Dear Mr Sarkar

Thank you for your recent e-mail.

I understand your frustration at the lack of BBC News coverage of the recent news that two men have been charged with being in possession of a large amount of explosive materials.

I should explain that the choice of news stories to report in our programmes is frequently very difficult. Editorial staff always have more news reports than can be fitted into the time available and their choice has to be selective. No matter how carefully such decisions are made, they are always aware that some people may disagree with them.

Rest assured that your concerns have been fully registered on our daily audience log. This internal document will be made available to BBC News teams and Senior BBC Management.

Thank you again for taking the time to contact the BBC.

Regards

Paul Wheeler
